Comprehension:

The Private Pakistani Banks as a group has been tremendously successful in increasing both their asset and deposit bases mostly at the expense of the grossly inefficient and essentially the customer averse nationalized banking sector. The overall banking environment remained quite competitive as the ceiling on markup rates was moved downwards from 22% to 17.5% (the ceiling has been removed entirely). The forward cover free on foreign exchange deposits were in the meanwhile deregularized resulting in an increased cost of funds. The top five private commercial banks however managed to accumulate commendable profits and seven out of the eleven actually succeeded in achieving double-digit returns on their equity bases.
